Each May and September, Tri-Cities Historical Museum publishes River Winds: an inside look at the fascinating native, pioneer, maritime, Victorian and industrial history of North Ottawa County, Michigan. Articles by professional curators take readers on a journey through our 70,000+ object collection, highlight our current themed exhibitions, and share insights into modern museum stewardship.

Read River Winds online with your tablet, mobile phone, or laptop at tricitiesmuseum.org/river-winds. We publish digital issues each June and October!

Did you know you can order copies of River Winds for your local history group, an area classroom, or for your organization’s public areas. Contact us!
